

When people play together, they also learn to coexist. Here Nadine Fahoum from Haifa, now Israel's No. 1 under-16 player, shows her mettle.

The Freddie Krivine Foundation, the Israel Tennis Centers and many other sports organizations across the country train thousands of Israeli children in a variety of co-existence sports projects, not only tennis. Muslim, Christian, Druze, Bedouin, Armenian, Circassian and Jewish children meet, compete, socialize and make friends.

ISRAELI ARAB CHAMPION

The real Israel is different than the Israel in the news.

Photo by Lynne Coates